

APPENDIX 6 - ITEM 2

Name * = not willing to attend Inquiry	Interview Date	Notes
Malcolm Wade - Claimant	Wed 9 June	Prompted to make claim after RSPB volunteers had altercation with two ladies walking dogs on route. Ladies reduced to tears. Mr Ken Bexley also abused by volunteers. Mr Wade went to Parish Council to find out what the position was, was told that the RSPB had made the route a permissive path. Mr Wade knew the route as a public right of way and so started the process of making the claim. He wanted the route to be always kept open for use by the public - public access shouldn't be controlled by the RSPB. Has always lived locally and played on the line, and on neighbouring land, as a child and youth. DE has never been under water - it does get muddy. It has become wetter in recent years since the RSPB put in a sluice gate to raise the water levels maybe 10 years ago. The barrier at D was put up by the RSPB because of a rare shrimp. The line to the east of Point D was backfilled after the land was sold by the railway, and then sold piecemeal, by the new landowners who expanded their business premises over the old railway track bed. Remembers RSPB removing trees and carrying out works - the track was never gated or barriered. Believes that any gate or barrier would have been removed by the public. The trees that were removed from site were not near the railway line and it wouldn't make sense to take timber off-site along the railway line as other routes more convenient. Uses both BC and DE, roughly the same amount, depending on the length of walk they want to take.
Roy Burrows	Wed 23 June	Is aware that the route has been used a lot by the public since the railway stopped. Has personal knowledge of its use since 1968. Has used it regularly, walking, at least once a week, since moving to Bembridge in 1987. Uses the route to go for a walk as an alternative to walking along the beach, and for birdwatching. There is more to see on this route. Has always used DE to get to Embankment Road. The water level can be high on DE but could always get through - on planks that people had put down and also wore wellington boots when path likely to be muddy/wet. Considered BC to be private - did use BC but only when visiting Mr Hicks. Remembers RSPB doing works, but not on land adjacent to the railway line - trees were cleared near the farm to prevent raptors using them. Understood that the RSPB had implied that they had a right to close off the path, but spoke with a bird warden who told him that the RSPB were happy with the situation i.e. with people walking ABDE. Recollects seeing a noticeboard about wildlife - it may have included a map of the reserve but it didn't say anything about where you go or people not having the right to be there. The current barrier at Point D makes a powerful statement - has been able to circumnavigate it but only wearing robust outer clothing. There's nothing on the barrier to say who put it up or why - suspects it may be associated with a desire to develop the car park.
Michael Carline	Mon 14 June	Prior to 2010 walked regularly whilst on holiday, every year since the 1970's. Lived on IoW since 2010 and walked 200 times a year from 2010 onwards, until recently when dog has got too old. Never able to walk beyond Point D. Always able to use DE, but chose to use BC more often as it's easier going. Parts of DE could be challenging in wet weather. Never seen barrier or gate across path. Didn't remember seeing RSPB doing site works. Has seen information boards near the lagoon - info about wildlife e.g. shrimp. No maps showing where could / couldn't walk. Always assumed it was a PROW, other people using it - walking, dog walking, cycling. Never walked it without meet somebody else on route.

Name * = not willing to attend Inquiry	Interview Date	Notes
Cecil Dyer *	Thu 10 June	Used on foot and bike roughly 50/50, about 15 times per year each. On foot normally used DE, on bike 50/50 BC and DE - BC easier to use by bike. Used to go all way along, but stopped when east of D was built over. DE always accessible even when could still follow railway all the way to Bembridge. DE lower lying than the railway so gets muddy in wet weather, but has never been completely under water. Plank of wood laid across muddy ground to enable crossing. Fence preventing access beyond Point D put up in the 1970's. Recalls the RSPB undertaking works, but never saw fence or barrier across the old railway. Gate put in the fence at the side of the railway track to allow access to the reserve. Thousands of people have used the route on foot, bike and horseback - they just went ahead and used it once the trains stopped. It's a lovely path, very quiet. Said he didn't want to attend a public inquiry as had ill health at the time of completing the form - now better.
Rosemary Edwards	Sat 29 May	Used twice a week on horseback 1966 to 2020 (stopped riding horse out due to Covid safety advice). Also walks the dog several times a week - at high tides when not possible to walk on beach. Doesn't keep horse at Harbour Farm or ride with people from Harbour Farm. Used to work for previous landowner, Yarland Properties Ltd. The landowner took the view that it was fine for people to walk and ride on the railway line path as they understood it was safer than using the road. Indicated "permissive" status on form because she knew it was privately owned and knew that the owners were happy for the public to use the route. In Ms Edwards opinion it was more that Yarland Properties acquiesced in the use (didn't bat an eyelid) rather than they pro-actively gave permission. No-one specifically gave her permission, but she knew that the landowner didn't mind people using the route. Yarland Properties initially closed the path one day a year, but stopped doing this in the mid 1970's as they thought it was pointless. Used BC more often than DE as it's easier to use. DE gets muddy, but DE was never under water. Path blocked off to the east of Point D in the 1970's when materials were tipped which blocked the track. Fence put up later - can't remember when. Prior to being blocked off, used to follow the old railway line all the way into Bembridge. Has used DE since path blocked off when dry. Remembers RSPB doing works to the Reserve, but access along path was always possible. No barrier. Believes RSPB would have accessed the reserve from the Harbour Farm access road rather than the disused railway, as that would have been easier.
George Gaskin	Mon 14 June	Mr Gaskin and his wife have used the route since they were children. Used to go all the way into Bembridge across land owned by Mr Hicks, but the business units at the side of the route pushed their land back so that the path was closed off - early 1970's. DE was open and people used it before the section east of Point D was closed off. Mrs Gaskin was told to not use DE about 5 years ago, just before it was fenced off, but that was the only time. DE was never under water - the surface was drier in summer than winter but always walkable. Both use the route several times a week - they enjoy birdwatching and it's an easy (level), no stiles walk. Mr Gaskin cycled the route mainly in the 1990s through to 2001 - cycled with a friend every other day. Mr Gaskin has used BC, but rarely. DE is a longer off-road walk with more wildlife to see. Mr & Mrs Gaskin remember the RSPB felling oak trees, but don't remember when. Mrs Gaskin thought the railway was barriered off to stop people using it. Mr Gaskin also thinks a fence was put up when the trees were taken down, but that the fence didn't stay up for long because of the number of complaints.

Name * = not willing to attend Inquiry	Interview Date	Notes
Michael Jacobs	Fri 11 June	Is 68 now, and has used the track all his life - has always lived locally. Had a brain injury 12 years ago and has some difficulties with recollection. Used to play on the surrounding land as a child. Used to walk all the way into Bembridge, has used DE since the track into Bembridge was blocked off. Has also used BC throughout - just as a different option. Remembers RSPB doing site works, recalls leaning on gate between disused railway track and marshes and site worker asking him what he was looking at, and that if he went onto the nature reserve he would be fined. He was never told not to use the railway track. Nor were there ever any gates or barriers across the disused railway track. Doesn't remember what the signs say.
Sue McLagan	Wed 16 June	Prior to 1981, throughout the 1960's and 70's, used the route whilst staying at the family holiday home in Bembridge. Was at boarding school, and every holiday was spent at holiday home. Used to ride ponies from various local stables up to several times a week. Didn't ride from Harbour Farm - was never given permission by any pony/stable owner - rode the route as if it were any other public route. Also used route on foot and on bike during this time - used to play on and around the route and used the route all the way through to Bembridge station where used to play on the turntable. Also used both BC and DE at this time as they were open and available. Lived abroad between 1981 and 2001. Since 2001, route east from D has been blocked off. Between 2001 - 2016 used the route on cycle and on foot, with dog. On average twice a week - even split between foot and bike. Used both BC and DE - DE for preference as it is a longer off-road route unless too muddy for footwear. DE is at the end of a lagoon - it used to be drier but RSPB management has made DE wetter. Remembers small building by Harbour Farm access route being dry and usable - now flooded and unusable. Remembers RSPB doing works to reserve here and at Brading Marshes - remembers unattended fires at Brading. Doesn't remember being prevented from using the route by a barrier or gate, but would have climbed over a barrier/gate in order to continue using the route as she had always done. Remembers seeing Notice Boards near to Point D - but nothing on Notice Boards relating to public access or where people could or couldn't walk. Believes the route should be kept open for everyone to enjoy - so much wildlife and many different bird species.
Richard Newell	Wed 23 June	Has walked the route since 1979 when moved to current address. From 1979 to mid-2000's was a member of Brading Haven Yacht Club and used to walk the route a couple of times a week. Since not being a member, has walked it spasmodically, mostly dog walking. Has never used BC - considered it to be a private road owned by Mr Hicks. DE can be muddy and overgrown, but is never completely flooded. DE always passable. Has seen Notice Boards, but never anything about access or where people can or can't walk. The Notice Boards are about the wildlife. The boatyard crossed by DE is owned by Mr Norris - there is a for sale board up.

Name * = not willing to attend Inquiry	Interview Date	Notes
David Preston	Thu 10 June	Used to use on foot, horseback and cycle. Stopped horse riding in about 2000 - before that used to walk/cycle/ride equally 3 times a week on average. The alternative was to use the road - the railway line route is safer and more pleasant. Uses both BC and DE, but uses DE more frequently as it means less use of road. Now only walks, about once a week. Lived nearby as a child and used the line as a playground when the trains stopped. Used to use the route all the way through to Bembridge station. Doesn't remember when, but when the Harbour was bought by Selwyn and Woodnutt, the boatyard and other businesses did a deal with Selwyn who let them have the land behind their businesses, and the businesses expanded over and physically filled in the railway line land preventing use. Land between railway line and Embankment Road east of Harbour Farm access track has been flooded in recent years by the RSPB, so it is wetter now than it used to be. DE never so wet that it couldn't be used - planks were put down. Doesn't remember being prevented from using the railway, but vaguely remembers barriers being put up when RSPB doing works, but barriers were immediately removed, probably by the public.
John Richards	Wed 23 June	Has walked the claimed routes since moving to Bembridge in 1974. Is a member of the Brading Haven Yacht Club, and regularly walks to the Club and back - roughly twice a week during the 1970's-2000's, less frequently now due to age. Sometimes used to go beyond Point D, but not as a through route to Bembridge - used it to access land privately owned by an acquaintance. Has always used both BC and DE - DE is the route of choice, as it is closer to Bembridge, but occasionally after heavy rain DE would be difficult to use so would opt to use BC. Has seen planks put down on DE over the muddy ground. Remembers RSPB doing site works in the 2000's but was never prevented from using the route by a gate or barrier across the path. Has seen information boards - information about the site and the wildlife e.g. the hairy shrimp. Attended a lecture about the shrimp. The signs didn't refer to access, or provide maps showing where people could or couldn't go. Always assumed that people could walk the route after the railway stopped running. Understands that Malcolm Thorpe (who he thought still owned the old railway line) was very happy to allow public access. The RSPB has raised the water levels which attracts more birds, and many people come for birdwatching. The old railway line is a good place for watching wildlife. People have used the route on a daily basis since he came to Bembridge - has seldom walked the route without seeing someone else.
Pat Scott	Sat 19 June	Used on foot and horseback, once or twice a week each until early 2000's. After that on foot, walking and dog walking. Used to go all the way through to Bembridge Station on foot and horseback until the route got blocked off. After route through to Bembridge station blocked off, started using BC and DE - regularly used both routes on foot, choice depended on length of walk. Didn't use DE on horse. DE used to get muddy, planks of wood needed to get across, but never completely under water. Doesn't remember RSPB doing site works or removing trees.

Name * = not willing to attend Inquiry	Interview Date	Notes
Linda Smith *	Sat 29 May	Used regularly since 2004 (before that when on holiday). Sometimes with dog just walked ABD return. Other times, and when going into Bembridge, used BC or DE. Preferred DE to avoid on-road walking, but when muddy/flooded would use BC instead. Remember RSPB doing works, removing shed, tree works etc. May have had to walk around heavy vehicles, but path never closed off - could always get through. Info boards very helpful - info about habitats, wildlife etc. No maps on boards. Doesn't want to appear at Inquiry as not good at public speaking.
Andrew Squibb *	Thu 10 June	Cycled to school 5 days a week. Since then cycles and walks about once every 3 weeks on average - more often cycling than walking. Uses both BC and DE, depending on how feeling on the day. Both BC and DE on foot and bike. Car park used for materials and plant for Yar Bridge replacement in 1991-92 may have obstructed DE. DE gets soggy sometimes, but not so that it can't be used. Doesn't remember any fences/barriers across railway line. Indicated 'no' to inquiry due to work commitments.
Deborah Valvona	Thu 10 June	Has used on foot, bike and horseback throughout the whole period. More recently most use on foot, and now uses more often, once or twice a week, with dogs and grandchildren. Kept horse in village, not at Harbour Farm. Used both BC and DE on horse, bike and foot - would use DE more often as visibility better when exiting onto Embankment Road. Has known DE to be very wet, and believed it to be under water just before it was cordoned off, but not before that. Didn't use the route when the RSPB was doing the site works, due to perception that it was dangerous, so doesn't know whether it was fenced/gated or not.
